THE VETERAN'S VISION.
BY MRS. SARAH D. ROBERT.

Begin a grass-grown battle-field by a crippled veteran stood, When morning spread her radiant wings, O'er hill, and plain, and wood.

Where once the cannon's anthem rang,
He heard the wild bird's psalm:
Where once the air to moans had thrilled,
The prayer of rest and calm.

No more the southern hillside shook With a nation's throbs of woe, But orchards flung their banners out Of mingled rose and snow.

He heard the plow-boy's merry call Amid the fields of corn;
The fisher's song beside the stream,
And the happy hunter's horn.

For peace her veil of beauty cast O'er ransomed hill and plain:
"They think no more of the past," he said;
"And the dead have died in vain!"

"Oh, thankless land! soonest hast thou Forgot their toil and pain, Who victory's priceless blossom won Amid the battle's rain?"

"List! voices from the storied past Sweep o'er thy mountain wall, Like restless roll of deep voiced drums, Or bugle's battle call.

"They speak from Shiloh's fatal field, From wild South Mountain's pass, From hallowed graves in distant climes,
And noisome dark morass.

"They plead from Frederick's hid her hills; From green Antietam's glen;
From false Starbuck by the sea,
And Maelon's prison-pen.

"They ring from lonely Lookout's heights With blood of heroes red, Oh sleeping land! awake! awake!
They call to thee,—they dead!"

Then a sound like ripple of the rain O'er mossy woodland bowers;
And lo! the land from west to east,
Was all alive with flowers.

The prairie gave its crocus-bells Bright as the sunlit seas, Hepaticas from out the dells,
And fair anemones.

The white and purple of its stars With pearls dew-drops gamed, Its daisies bright with Eden-light, And violet diadems.

The northern lily bloomed in peace Beside the southern rose, One red with blood of loyal hearts,— One pure as stainless snows.

Poem meadows bright with kiss of May,
The culture of peace,
With starry saintly primrose came,
And flitting flour-de-lis.

They came,—and on each lowly grave Their cup of incense shed; While the nation's voice in reverence spake,
"With flowers we crown our dead!"

"The first sweet blossoms of the spring We bring from dill and len,
And from the western hills that gloom Beside the western sea.

"And best of all the myriad blooms The hills and valleys yield, We wreath above our heroes' tombs The 'Flower of Battle-fields'!"

"And though, across the green-rose'd plains No cry for vengeance comes,
No maddening trumpet's rallying call,
No beat of battle drums;

"Hath Freedom then forgot her dead Who sleep by hill and strand, Their o'er the closing rift of war Her friends and foes join hands?"

"Nay! still with holy mother-love, She yearns as of yore
For her hero-brother that bravely beat And lights that smile no more.

"And bright upon her roll of fame Each honored name is set,
She guards above their holy graves And never will forget!"

"Poetry! 'It is a plant that thrives best in spots where blood has spilt long ago—Lachrymæ."

FIFTY-ONE DAYS ON A CORAL REEF.

A remarkable story reaches us from Liverpool. Six sailors have just passed through a succession of adventures on a desert island, which more than realized the most thrilling of the many romantic stories of shipwreck written for our youth.

The fine new iron clipper ship Mer-curius left San Francisco early in January last on her return to England, having previously made her first voyage from the Clyde to Sydney. She was commanded by Capt. Cutbertson, an experienced navigator, and all went well with her until the 25th of March.

In the early morning of that day, it being then dark and raining heavily, the good ship struck upon a dangerous coral island, known as the Roocas reef, in latitude 35° S, longitude 33° 20' W.
No one on board had thought of danger until five minutes before the Mer-curius struck. The lookout man then gave the alarm, "Brook ahead!"

The captain was called, the course of the ship was altered, and her helm was put "hard over." But it was too late.
A few seconds of that intense anxiety in the endurance of which men seem to live years, and then all doubts were solved by the Mercurius first grazing her side below the water against the sharp edges of the coral, and then striking violently on it twice. She began to fill instantly, and as she was hanging as it were over the ledge of the rock, the word was passed to man the long boat, in the hope of saving all hands. But while this was being done, the ship lurched suddenly outwards and went down like a stone, in eight fathoms of water. It may be remarked that one of the characteristics of coral reefs is that they have frequently deep water right up to them, and the rocky islands in the Red Sea, the position of which is wrongly given on the charts, are especially dangerous from this fact, and because like the Roocas Reef, they lie low, a d at night or in thick weather elude observations thoroughly.

Out of the twenty-two hands on board of the Mercurius the morning found but six alive, and these, after swimming two hours and until the tide fell, gained a footing on the ledge and proceeded to explore it. Their story reminds one from this time of Philip Quarles and Robinson Crusoe, of Juan Fernandez, the Swiss Family Robinson, and the ingenious hero of Mr.
Readle's and Mr. Bonicault's novel.

Looking to the sea, the tops of the fore and main-mast of the Mercurius were just visible out of the water; looking over the islands which were to be their home, some fifteen acres of rock, interspersed with patches of sand, and connected by a narrow isthmus with another equally barren, of the same size met their gaze. One coconut tree formed the only sign of vegetation. It was the sole survivor of those which were planted there some years ago by order of Her Majesty's Consul at Per-nambuco, in order that the reef might be seen more easily by vessels on the Brazil or Cape Horn route, in direct track of which it lies; but there had been weeks and previously, and with the aid of articles left behind by the survivors, the shipwrecked men continued to bend circumstances to their will. They found two iron tanks disposed in convenient positions and filled with water, as well as a considerable quantity of broken timber, out of which they built themselves a log hut.

They found, too, that pearl of price, a broken knife, a hammer, a two-ounce weight and a large copper bolt, and with these clumsy tools they made two boats out of the planking strewn about the rocks, fastening them with nails which they extracted from the broken timber of other wrecks. It does not appear that the poor fellows had any thought of escaping in these boats, but they were enabled to make fishing excursions and to sail with signals flying in search of passing ships in the early morning and in the evening; when the sun's fierceness was subdued.

They had no clothes, and except in their but no shade, and the tropical heat was terrible. The majority of the men saved were in their belts when the Mercurius struck, and swam to the rock in their shirts; and it was not until one of their number made a hat out of the fibre of the solitary cocoa tree, sewing it together with a needle made out of a piece of brass found on the island, that any protection for the head was seen among them. To add to their misery, the reef swarmed with venomous ants, which bit the strangers unmercifully, and with an effect which can only be realized by those who have suffered from insect life of tropical climes.

The commissariat question was settled in a way which will make every schoolboy's mouth water who reads of it. They went in their boat and caught fish and turtle, and they had an abundance of birds' eggs and shell fish.
They manufactured bird traps and caught young birds, cooking them by a fire which they never suffered to go out by night or day. They had, of course, no matches, and no means of procuring a light other than the time honored one we have all read of in Cooper's novels—that of rubbing two bits of wood till they ignite. There was no fuel belonging to the island, and the broken debris of former wrecks supplied the only material for the all important fire. Three times during their sojourn on the rock was this fire suffering to go out; and three times was the experiment in friction anxiously and successfully tried.

So the time wore on until fifty-one weary days had been spent on the reef, days in which every man scanned the horizon, and in which the strong man cheered the faint-hearted, and all spoke hope in turn. It is easy to picture the existence these men led. The first gratitude of escape; the anxious search for fellow survivors; the mournful conclusion that the rest of their shipmates were no more; the stern necessity which bade them work, invent, construct; the development, day by day, of some fresh ingenuity, some little suspected quality in each, and the gradual accumulation of comforts, and even comforts—all can be traced. They were prudent men—men taught by calamity to prepare for a rainy day; for when rescued, they had two hundred eggs in store and are described as being in good condition.

Their rescue was not affected until the 15th of May, when the commander of the iron clipper bark Silver Craig, Captain Cobb, was approaching Per-nambuco, and discerned a lump on the well known Roocas Reef, which he made out to be a hat. Drawing near, he discerned a signal of distress, composed of a seaman's striped shirt, fluttering half-mast high, and he then hove to within two miles from the island, and the six nearly naked men put out in their rude boats and came on board.
They were kindly and hospitably received, and had a passage given them to Liverpool, where they are now telling their strange story, and exhibiting to their friends the cocoa-fibre hats, which were until recently their only articles of attire, and which they now keep as mementoes of the perils they have escaped.

In simple force, in romance, in strangeness, in fertility of resources and in adventure, the real experience of these six men on a desolate island, is worthy of Defoe, and makes most fictitious histories of shipwreck seem tame and feeble by comparison.—London News.

MAKE HOME ATTRACTIVE.

No child, however sentimental, will love a home simply because it has the name of one. If we would have our children love it, we must make it lovelly—we must give them something to love in the home.

Now if the principal ideas which a child has of his home are, that this is the place where he gets his meals and where he sleeps; where, if he is little, he is perpetually found fault with;
where he must keep quiet; where at nightfall he must sit snugly waiting till bedtime; or, if he has grown old, he can only deem it a dreary room, in which he must employ himself as best he can, while his father sits at his paper or doses in his chair, and the mother is silently busy with her sewing or her book, it is not wonder that children learn to look elsewhere for pleasure and seek to find amusement in other circles, or that home is forsaken as soon as it is possible to leave it.

It is practicable to make it so distinctly that children shall have no disposition to wander from it or prefer any other place; it is possible to make it so attractive that it shall not only firmly hold its own loved ones, but shall draw others into its cheerful circle. Let the house, all day long, be the scene of pleasant looks, pleasant words, kind and affectionate acts; let the table be the happy meeting place of a merry group, and not a dull board where a silent, if not sullen company of animals come to feed; let the meal be the time when a cheerful laugh is heard and good things are said; let the sitting room, at evening, be the place where a smiling company settle themselves to books or games, till the round of good night kisses are in order; let there be some music in the household; music not kept like silk and satin to show to company, but music in which father and mother and sister and brother join; let the young companions be welcomed and made for the time a part of the group, so that daughters shall not deem it necessary to seek the obscure of back parlors with intimate friends, or drive rather and mother to distant apartments; in a word let the home be surrounded by an air of cozy good will; then children need not be exhorted to love it; you will not be able to tempt them away from it.

The ties which bind a child to home are created not so much out of great as from little things; some of them I have hinted at, and many more will suggest themselves to a wise parent.
There should be a great many holidays in the home. I believe in anniversaries, and I love, by observing them to connect time with events, and give to both a deeper interest. The birthdays of a family should always be noticed, and in some way celebrated. The busy preparation of the whole house hold to make some present to father or mother or sister or brother on a birthday or a holiday; the many planings,
day or a holiday; the many planings, the workings in by corners at odd times; the bunding of work out of sight as the step of the favored one is heard; the careful stowing of gifts away till the appointed time, and then, when the looked for day has arrived, the presentations, the confused and merry voices, the filled eye, the choked voice, the heart too full to speak in words, memory touched as with an angel's hand, love that can only look in thanks—all these! who can tell their sweet and mighty power? A home familiar to such scenes, will it can be one that children shall not love? No, no; from it when the in-exorable time comes to go away, daughters shall part with robes of sorrow, and sons with pressed lips and swimming eyes, and while mother lives it will be a home still, though years have gone and other homes have claimed them.—Aikmah's Life at Home.

HOW SOME PEOPLE ARE AF-FECTED.

Some people are so constituted that a single joy fills every cell of their nature and, for the time being, they have room for nothing else. Any attempt to crowd anything else in is certain to result in something very absurd.— The following letter, recently picked up on the street, well illustrates the proposition:

DEAR BROTHERS, SISTERS, COUSINS, AGENTS, UNCLE, &c. I now take my seat and set down to take this opportunity to inform you that I am "Daddy," that is, I suppose I am, for Abbie has got a nice fat baby, and we hope you are enjoying the same blessing. Now this is to be strictly a business letter.
Firstly, as I said before, Abbie has got as nice a baby as ever made up faces.
Nextly, I have swapped away old Buckskin and I think I have got a pretty nice horse; it is a little girl and weighs nine pounds (I mean the baby,) and is just as fat as butter, he has got a good pair of lungs; she is red and got a bobtail (the horse I mean,) and a white stripe in her face, and is a good driver; she has got blue eyes and a dimple in her chin (I mean the baby now,) and has the prettiest mouth that ever was (of course,) and judging from her teeth I should think she was about six years old (I mean the horse now); she is sound, smooth and kind (I mean the horse or baby either now,) and the Dr. says she is the latest he ever saw, without any exception (he means the baby). I got twenty five dollars to boot, not in the baby scrape, though, for the boot was on the other foot, and two or three sizes larger as near as I can find out. I am going to harness the horse now, and go off after mother; she was born last Wednesday, twenty heretofore past nine (I hope you don't think I mean mother or the horse, I mean the baby). She is as hearty as a pig, ate an egg and drank three cups of tea for dinner (I mean Abbie). She is getting along nicely, and if she don't have any bad luck she will get along fine.

There, I've been reading this over and I see plainly that I can't fit to write.
The amount of it is, I am frustrated. I am Daddy, and that accounts for it, so you must excuse me this time.

Yours, SAM, DADDY.

ANECDOTE OF DE WITT CLINTON.

The venerable printer, Conger Sherman, who died not long ago in Philadelphia, occasionally indulged in reminiscences of the early days when he worked in the printing house of Barber & Southwick, at Albany. Here is one of his stories:

"It was at this time that I had frequent opportunities of seeing some of the public men of the day, among others Daniel D. Tompkins and De Witt Clinton. In person, manners, and mind, Clinton was a splendid man. Sclate and reserved, he yet appeared to me to be always cheerful and kind. He had just been appointed by the senate or New York one of the board of canal commissioners, and was engaged in perfecting the plan of the Erie canal, of which he was the originator. I was sent to him one morning at his room for copy. When I entered, I doffed my cap, made my bow, and said, 'Please, sir, I was sent for some copy.'
'Sit down, my son,' was the kind and encouraging reply.

He took up from the table before him a ready-prepared manuscript, fastened at the top of the leaves, like a lawyer's paper-book, and asked me if I could read that. I looked at it; it was written in a clear, round hand as plain as print. 'Yes, sir; I can read it,' was my reply. He said, 'I have here a duplicate copy which I wish to verify before I give you the original; stand up before me and read.' This was the first report of the commissioners appointed to survey the route of the great Erie canal. I did my best at reading. I was accustomed to reading copy—bad manuscript generally; this was good. I read on in a clear, firm tone, and with emphasis, pronouncing every word correctly, until I came to the estimated cost of the work—five millions of dollars.

"I drew a long breath, more perhaps from some natural cause, than a comprehension of the enormous sum of money in those days. The grave statesman looked at me as if I did not understand it financially. 'Large figures, sonny,' said he; 'I may not live to see the work finished, but you will, and paid for, too. I hope.' I then read on to the end of the document, put the copy into my pocket, felt highly honored, and returned to the printing office with it, where I came very near getting a good thrashing for loitering about the State House, which I sometimes did, for it was a very agreeable place for me to spend my time."

AN EXPLOSION.

The steamer S., commanded by Captain S., exploded several years ago with terrible effect, and buried to the water's edge. Captain S. was blown into the air, alighting near a floating cotton bale, upon which he floated uninjured, but much blackened and mud-

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY ELECTION.—The Union Republican voters of Stark county are requested to assemble at the usual places of holding primary meetings on

SATURDAY, AUGUST 15th, 1870
for the purpose of nominating candidates for the offices of Recorder, Commissioner, Inferior Director and County Surveyor. Also to select delegates to the Union Republican Congressional Convention and to select one member of the county central committee from each township.

THE CENSUS.—The returns of the assistant marshals which have already been received at Washington indicate that the new census will be completed by the 1st of September. The publication of this vast collection of facts relative to the physical, social, political, financial, intellectual and moral condition of the United States of America cannot fail to make a sensation throughout the world. Since the last census, in 1860, a vast revolution has been accomplished, the results of which, in all their variety and importance, will now for the first time be fully and officially revealed. The contrast between the earliest census ever made in this country and the one about to be completed will be full of startling interest, even to those most familiar with the marvellous progress of our republic. It is highly important that the utmost accuracy in recording, and the highest skill in arranging the facts to be collected should be aimed at by the assistant marshals. Not only will politicians scan with eagerness the indications of the census as to the prospective apportionment of representation in congress, but scientific men everywhere will expect to find in it data that may throw a flood of light on the great problems of the age. Every patriotic American will discover in the new census illustrations of the actual growth and signs of the future glory of a nation which has taken, since the close of our late civil war, a fresh point of departure, and which is girding itself for a career of unprecedented prosperity and grandeur.

THE WAR—PRUSSIA VICTORIOUS.—At last there has been something like fighting; nor is there longer any doubt that on Saturday night, when the darkness put an end to the combat, the Prussians so far had been completely successful.

The details published in the daily papers show that the fighting in the neighborhood of Woerth was long and bloody. It would seem that the crown prince vigorously followed up his victory, pushing on to Haguenau. In spite of the determined resistance of the French the place was gallantly captured by the Prussians, the French retreating in disorder with a loss of four thousand prisoners, two standards and thirty pieces of artillery, including six revolving cannon or mitrailleuses. Later dispatches from Berlin and Cologne confirm this news in every particular. It is reported that Marshal MacMahon was wounded. Several of the dispatches state that the French have retreated along the whole line, and that the emperor is concentrating his troops for the purpose of defending Paris. Every precaution is taken to preserve peace in that city but serious apprehensions are entertained that the unfavorable news may lead to a rising of the disaffected classes.

In spite of the moral advantages which Prussia has won it is not yet safe to conclude that she must come out of this struggle victorious. In the enemy's country Prussia may find it very difficult to follow up her successes. If, however, Prussia should again and again repeat her triumphs the position of Napoleon becomes serious indeed. Defeat will be his ruin and the ruin of his house. If Prussia enters Paris in triumph a congress of kings will dispose of the parvenu, and France will consent to the restoration of the empire.

The Spanish government has been called upon by the Washington authorities for an indemnity of certain American citizens expelled from Cuba. We hope also that those murdered there have not been forgotten, and that the government does not mean to rest satisfied with making the demand without enforcing it.

The Fenian leaders are paying somewhat dearly for their recent rash invasion of Canada. General O'Neill who was the head and front, gets two years in the state prison, which is very severe for so popular a crime as violating the neutrality laws; but as two of his subordinate officers, General Starr and Colonel Thompson, had previously been sentenced to the same term, he cannot complain. In the case of Captain Monahan, however, there was palpable injustice done. He had no command at the front and was not engaged in the fight, but, nevertheless, he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, probably because his name smacked of the Irish and he sported a military title.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.
Wednesday Ev'g, Aug. 3, 1870.
Regular session—members all present except Messrs London and Ruchti.
Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.
Ordinance No. 172, entitled An Ordinance defining the duties of the Street Commissioner, and repealing sundry other ordinances, was reported, read twice and on motion of Mr. Mong, referred to the judiciary committee for sundry corrections.

Mr. Ogden, chairman of the committee on city prison, submitted to the council scaled proposals for the stone work of the prison, from Joseph L. Clements, Joseph Sils, Messrs. Baker & Garis, and Messrs. Paul, Brahm & Co., and upon the opening and examination of the above proposals it was ascertained that Joseph Sils was the lowest bidder, and on motion of Mr. Bollinger his proposal was accepted, and the city solicitor instructed to prepare a contract for the same.

On motion of Mr. Ruchti the standing committee on streets and alleys was instructed to examine the street near the Wright Iron Bridge Co's works, and erect a culvert if public convenience requires it.
A remonstrance, signed by S. Hunt and ninety-one others, requesting the council not to vacate any portion of Mill or other streets for park purposes, for various reasons set forth in the remonstrance, was read, and on motion of Mr. Ogden was referred to the park commissioners.

The bond of Adam Baird, commissioner of ward No. 3, with I. M. Dossce as surety, was presented and accepted.
A. F. Beach tendered his resignation as civil engineer which was accepted.
Marshal Saman's regular report showing the amount of money collected by him for the month of July to be $42, was submitted and put on file.
The following bills were allowed.—C. N. Palmer, plat of city prison, $23.
A. Penoyer, assisting engineer, $3.
C. Snyder, $3.
Martin Schafer, enrollment of persons liable to road tax in ward No. 2, $6.
Peter Snyder, enrollment of persons liable to perform or pay road tax in ward No. 4, $6.
Adam Mong, amount paid for assistance for engineer for park commissioners, $47.
On motion of Mr. Ruchti an order was drawn for ten dollars to procure revenue stamps for official bonds.
Adjourned.

LONDON, Aug. 7—1 P. M.
Telegrams from Paris, received in this city at an early hour this morning report that the defeat of the French army under Marshal MacMahon by the Prussians at Woerth was complete.
The Prussian troops, under command of Prince Frederick William, advanced rapidly upon Haguenau and captured the place, routing the French after a severe fight.
The loss of the French was heavy. It was estimated at four thousand men.
The French forces are supposed to occupy the line between Metz and Nancy.
There are serious apprehensions of the occurrence of disturbances in Paris, caused by the receipt of this unfavorable news.

BERLIN, Aug. 7
King William sends the following dispatch to the Queen: Good news. A great victory by our Fritz. God be praised for His mercy. We captured 4,000 prisoners, thirty guns, two standards and six mitrailleuses.
MacMahon during the fight was heavily reinforced from the main army.
The contest was very severe, and lasted from eleven in the morning until nine at night, when the French retreated, leaving the field to us.
Our losses were heavy.

The favorite air of the French army—Home Again, with running accompaniment.
San Antonio, Texas, now raises, not more than a mile from its center, fruits such as peaches, pears, figs, grapes, melons and bananas.

Gov. Hayes left Columbus on Saturday for Minnesota, where he will spend ten days or two weeks.
A young woman in Iowa walked twenty miles to have a tooth pulled and stirred her stumps back again immediately after the operation.

Senator Revels denies his ejection from a street car in Louisville. Being a public conveyance, it could not be used for his private turn out.

There was a mysterious shooting affair in the suburbs of Independence, Ind., on Friday night. The assailed party refuses to tell who shot at him.

New York City, March 28, 1870.
Having used Dr. Whittlesley's medicine, I have no hesitation in saying that in my case it proved a decidedly efficacious remedy for dyspepsia, and with the removal of the complaint, promoted a healthy action of the digestive organs generally. I should judge from its effects, that it combined ingredients which serve both as a mild tonic and aperient, contributing to the salutary action of the liver, and the purifying of the blood.

I feel happy to say that the results produced by this medicine in my case, I shall certainly use it in future dyspeptic troubles in preference to any other pronounced remedy with which I am acquainted.
I LEAVY OGDEN,
P. S.—During five years' residence in India and Australia, when I was a member of the Civil Service, I experienced, with others, considerable inconvenience from dyspepsia and constipation occasioned by the great heat of the climate, and from what I know of Dr. Whittlesley's Vegetable Remedy, I feel convinced that its introduction into those countries would confer a vital benefit on the inhabitants by mitigating the action of the liver, and stimulating the digestive organs. The best medicine I could procure at that time, as well as other remedies I tried in England, proved decidedly inferior in their curative properties to Dr. Whittlesley's.

The Great Medical Discovery!
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.

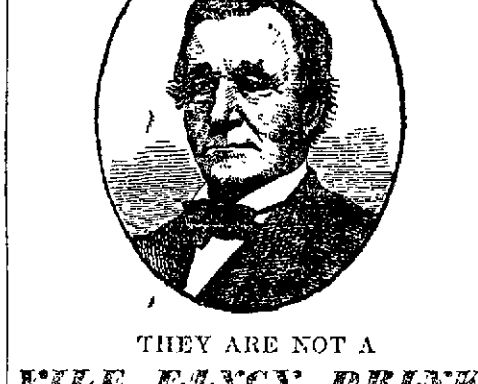

More than 500,000 persons bear testimony to their curative effects.
For Female Complaints, whether in old or young, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these tonic bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

What are They?
They are a gentle purgative as well as a tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving congestion or inflammation of the liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

They are a gentle purgative as well as a tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving congestion or inflammation of the liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FLAVY DRINK.
Made of poor rum, whiskey, proof spirits, and refuse liquor, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called tonics, appetizers, restorers, &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all alcoholic stimulant.

They are the great blood purifier and life-giving principle, a perfect renovator and invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For inflammatory and chronic rheumatism, and gout, dyspepsia, or indigestion, biliousness, and intermittent fevers, disease of the blood, liver, kidneys and bladder, these bitters have been most successful. Such diseases are caused by vitiated blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the digestive organs.

Cleanse and vitiate blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when you find it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, tape, and other worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectively destroyed and removed.

In bilious, remittent and intermittent fevers, these bitters have no equal. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

A SAFE, CERTAIN AND Speedy Cure FOR ALL NERVOUS DISORDERS, Its Effects are Magnificent.

It is an unfailing remedy in all cases of Neuralgia facialis, often effecting a perfect cure in less than twenty-four hours, from the use of two or three pills.

No other form of neuralgia or nervous disease has failed to yield to this wonderful remedy.

Even in the severest cases of chronic neuralgia and general nervous derangements, of many years standing—affecting the whole system, its use for a few days, or a few weeks at the utmost, always affords the most astonishing relief, and very rarely fails to produce a complete and permanent cure.

It contains no drugs or other materials in the slightest degree injurious, even to the most delicate system, and can always be used with perfect safety.

It has long been in constant use by many of our most eminent physicians, who give it their unanimous and unequalled approval. The following, among many of our best citizens testify to its wonderful efficacy.

Having used Dr. Turner's Dr. Douloureux or Universal Neuralgia Pill personally, and in numerous instances recommended it to patients suffering with neuralgia—I found it without an exception, to accomplish all the prophecies have claimed. J. R. DILLINGHAM, Dentist, 13 Winter St., Boston Feb. 18, 1867.

Mr. J. M. R. Store, for many years an apothecary in this city, and for three years during the war, in the hospital department of the U. S. government, thus speaks of it. I have known Dr. Turner's Dr. Douloureux or Universal Neuralgia Pill for twenty years. I have sold it and used it personally, and I have never known of a case where it did not give relief. Customers have told me they would not be without it if each pill cost ten dollars. I think it the most reliable and valuable remedy for neuralgia and nervous diseases in the world.

Messrs. Turner & Co.—For a long time a member of my family has suffered severely with neuralgia. The pain was almost unendurable. We tried various medicines without success. A few months since we began the use of your pill. It has proved perfectly successful, and no traces of the disease remain. I can gladly recommend your remedy to all sufferers from neuralgia. Respectfully yours,
F. W. PELTON.
Boston, March 25, 1867.

Sent by mail on receipt of price and postage. One package $1, postage 6 cents. Six packages, $5, postage 27 cents. It is sold by all dealers in drugs and medicines and by TURNER & Co., Sole proprietors, 120 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

MILD, CERTAIN, SAFE AND EFFICIENT
It at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing at any time, or under any circumstances, the slightest injury to any of them.

The most complete and uniform success has for many years attended its use in France, and in some portions of the United States, and is now offered to the general public, with the most absolute conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it.

It is harmless in the extreme at all times, and under all circumstances, and is unequalled. I can gladly recommend your remedy to all sufferers from neuralgia. Respectfully yours,
F. W. PELTON.
Boston, March 25, 1867.

It produces little or no pain in its operation; leaves the organs entirely free from irritation, and never, in the slightest degree, overtaxes or excites the nervous system.

In bilious diseases, indigestion and dyspepsia, it is invaluable.

It is the great purifier of the blood, and hence cannot fail to eradicate from the system scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, cancer, and cutaneous eruptions generally. Irregular, or want of appetite, colic, coughs, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, colic pains, diarrhoea, impure breath, dizziness, sympathetic nervous or sick headache, rheumatism, gout, and inflammation in all forms—these and all kindred diseases can always be wholly cured or greatly relieved by this mild yet powerful remedy.

General debility with its inseparable accompaniments—mental and physical, such as green sickness, lassitude of mind and body, drowsiness, indigestion to exercise, weakness of the limbs, feelings of lassitude, general round-shouldered appearance, all disappear under its use in a few days.

It regulates and invigorates the bowels; is a sure antidote for obstinate constipation, and piles, gives renewed vigor to the stomach, wakes the action of the liver, dissipates the yellow fever of jaundice and eradicates from the skin, bilious spots or mould moth and freckles.

It is eminently effective in the cure of all diseases of children, however infantile, especially for colic, worms, and irritation and fretfulness while teething.

As a dinner pill or digester, it is second to none other, when taken with the food. It operates as a general stimulant, whereby the entire impaired organism is stimulated to renewed energy, and to a healthy vigor and vitality. It is extensively used by the faculty as a convenient and thorough cathartic, having no action other than the one intended. Sent by mail on receipt of price and postage, viz: One box 25 cents, postage 6 cents, two boxes $1, postage 18 cents. It is sold by all dealers in drugs and medicines, and by TURNER & Co., 120 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

THIS IS NO HUMBUG!
By sending 25 cents, with age, height, color of eyes and hair, you will receive by return mail, a correct picture of your future husband or wife with name and date of marriage. Address W. Fox, P. O. Drawer, No. 24, Fultonville, N. Y.

RAILROAD MEETING.—In addition to the Lake Shore and Tuscarawas Valley railroad, another road is projected for Massillon; a meeting of the citizens has been called for Friday evening of this week, at Madison Hall, when Judge Welker, and other persons will address them, and explain the plans and prospects of this new enterprise. All those interested, and all should therefore attend.

RECKS keep the best stock of real and imitation lace, ruffings, edgings, and insertings in the city.

The show white velvet cord at Estep's is fashionably durable and economical.

Collars. new styles in lace, linen, real thread and Matted at Estep's.

A New Awning.—A new awning has just been put up at Fred Sibila & Co's Clothing Store, on Main street, and at several other places in this city, by Mr. W. M. Taylor. It is ahead of anything of the kind we have ever seen, being protected from the weather when rolled up, and can be easily adjusted, rolled and unrolled. It works like a charm, and we advise all who are interested to examine this awning.

Handkerchiefs, fashioned after the most popular styles, in Brussels lace, real thread, fancy H. S. and plain L. C. at Estep's.

Estep offers all the most popular styles of dress goods at uniform low prices.

Martin Schaefer has secured the agency of the Improved Singer Sewing Machine which is conceded to be the best sewing machine in the market. He also keeps on hand and for sale needles for the Howe, Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, Grover & Baker, and Wilcox & Gibbs sewing machines, also the best quality of machine oil, Erie street, North of Main, Massillon, O.

A nice assortment of linen collars and cuffs at Ricks'.

We are selling our muslins bleached and unbleached as cheap if not cheaper than anywhere in the city—call and satisfy yourselves. Ricks' Bio.

By posters plentifully distributed about town we learn that the Lang Family will give a vocal and instrumental concert in the opera house, on Friday evening, the 19th inst.

Ricks are closing out their entire stock of shawls at prices sure to suit. Give them a call.

On Friday last a queer looking vehicle shaped like a Monitor, made its appearance on our streets and took its position near McLean's corner, and soon collected a crowd of people, when the proprietor announced a panorama of naval scenes, which could be seen for ten cents a head, and the music thrown in. He succeeded in taking in quite a number of times and pleasing Young America.

Ladies you will find the cheapest line of dress goods in the city at Ricks'.

Don't forget that on Friday next, the 12th inst., Campbell's mammoth menagerie and equestrian institute, will be in this city, with the finest collection of animals and best circus ever seen in these parts. No expense or pains has been spared by the managers to make this the most complete show of animals ever exhibited to the American public; to the lovers of nature, as shown in the animal kingdom, this will be a good opportunity for study, and cannot but be a source of profit and pleasure to all. The menagerie is separate from the circus, and the doors will be open for an hour before the performance commences, so that those who do not wish to remain can have an opportunity of seeing the animals and coming away. In the circus department there is promised an unusual amount of tumbling, riding, gymnastic performance, &c., and as to fun and laughter there will be no limit, as the clowns, Ward and Sickney, are celebrated the world over for their north provoking propensities. In short, there will be variety enough to please all, so don't fail to see them.

Hosiery, gloves, corsets and hoopskirts at Estep's.

The Davis Sewing Machine, newest invention, with latest improvements may be seen in operation at Estep's.

The greatest want of the times, says an exchange, is the want of cash. It would put the matter in a more complete term to say want of sense.

Some one has sent us a copy of the first report of the manufacturers, trade and commerce of Cincinnati, for the year ending January 1st, 1870. It is published by the board of trade and contains much useful information in the shape of statistics &c.

The first watermelons of the season were brought to town on Monday last and plentifully distributed among our grocers. They were fine large specimens and came from the southern part of Indiana.

MEETING AT THE OPERA HOUSE—MINER'S STRIKE.

On Saturday evening, pursuant to notice, the parquette of the Opera House was filled with miners and others who had assembled to hear the miners present their views of the strike and its causes. The meeting was called to order, and Mr. Davis, President of the Grand Lodge of the Miners' Union for the Tuscarawas Valley, introduced by Mr. Folger of this city, who said he appeared by request of the miners, to aid them in organizing the meeting, and thus enabling them to give their views to the public, that they, as they stated, could not have access to the public through the columns of the city papers, that having been denied them; and that Mr. Davis, who would address the meeting, was a representative man among the miners and could speak for himself as well as for them. Mr. Folger said, for himself, he could say nothing of the merits of the controversy, as he knew nothing concerning it, except that the miners insisted that they could not work for the wages offered, and the employers as pertinaciously insisted that they could not accede to the demands of the miners and compete with other sections of the state which had equal facilities for transportation. He desired to see labor adequately rewarded, and capital properly protected, and asked for a fair hearing for Mr. Davis.

Mr. Davis was received with earnest applause on being introduced. His speech lasted for about an hour, in which he went into what rapidly over the subject much thought and spoke earnestly, and in the main, entirely respectfully. He said the miners, of whom he was one, demanded, was a fair compensation for a fair day's labor, and he would show by facts and figures that the operators were making at present prices, that is, the prices demanded for mining, more than fifty cents per ton; that while they were reducing the price for mining they kept up the price of the article, and were now getting more than $4 per ton in the market. He was at times especially severe on the proprietors, showed them all to have made money, while there was scarcely a miner that had a thutche to cover him and his children, and it was now a question whether fifteen hundred men and their families should be turned out of doors or whether they should be paid a fair price for their labor.

Mr. Davis was frequently interrupted with the applause of his audience and left a favorable impression of his ability to defend his side of the questions at issue. We desire to correct one mistake into which he fell in stating his facts. We have never refused to open the columns of the INDEPENDENT to any well prepared and judicious article on the subject of the strike. On the contrary we have always been willing, and yet are willing that the miners shall be heard in such manner as shall be to them most agreeable, but we shall not permit any person to occupy any room, however small, in our paper, to foment quarrels and transcend the dignity of language. Ourselves to be the judge always of what is proper. We regard the strike as a most unfortunate affair, and shall always contribute all we can to maintain a good understanding between the miners and their employers, and when we are charged with closing our columns against properly prepared articles, we have simply to say that the editor has the charge is his own. We favor free discussion always and everywhere, but will tolerate no personal abuse from any quarter, and in our judgment Mr. Davis did not exhibit good judgment in his wholesale charges against the press of this city.

We have heard various statements on the street as to the course the proprietors intend to pursue. We hear that they propose to bring here a large number of men wholly unacquainted with the business of mining, and set them at work in their mines at the reduced prices; and we have heard that the Miner's Union would resist by force any effort to put in the "blacklegs," as they call them, to take the place of experienced miners. We are free to say that we do not believe that Mr. Davis or any of his friends has counseled any such course, and if the Wilcox Bank Coal Co., or any other firm of proprietors shall attempt to carry on their mines with such forces they will not be disturbed.

We have thus far strenuously avoided being connected with this matter, but we now propose if need be to give our views of it as best we may after having gathered up all the facts bearing upon it.

The Tuscarawas Advertiser comes to us dressed in a splendid new suit, throughout, of what is known among printers as the full grown series of types. It makes a fine appearance and we congratulate our neighbors as having one of the best looking and ablest local papers in this section of the state.

John Gabala has removed his barber shop from Sibila's building to a room in the opera house, where he will be pleased to see all of his old friends and patrons.

We are sorry to announce that Mr. Frost is still on the sick list, but are glad to hear that he is improving, and hope he will soon return with his health completely restored.

The Akron Beacon says five hands on a farm in Springfield tp., Summit county, bound an acre and three-eighths of wheat after a machine in twenty-three minutes.

Our neighbor, Mr. F. Breckel, has recently put up a neat and tasty sign, the handiwork of James Abrahams.

Mr. D. L. St John, who has been engaged in the manufacture of soap at Canal Fulton, for several years past, and whose establishment was destroyed by fire last spring, has again commenced active operations. His soap is of a superior quality, and those who once use it will have no other. Mr. St John is prepared to fill all orders that he may receive for this indispensable household article.

Nothing will fit children for a higher life so perfectly as to stuff them with green apples and cucumbers at this season of the year.

A nice line of prints, the latest styles just received at Ricks'.

Peter Gribble, our enterprising lively man, on Erie st., nearly opposite the American House, has been repairing and improving his premises, and now has one of the neatest and most convenient stables to be found anywhere. Mr. G. has some of the finest rigs in this section, lets them at as low rates as any other concern, and is accommodating, prompt and reliable. These wishing anything in this line cannot do better than to give him a call.

Messrs. Thomas Chapman, Samuel Crider, Wm. Moffit, John Christian, Joseph Hosler, Wm. Kitzmiller, Wm. Maxheimer, J. D. Steel, Joseph Oberlin, Geo. Archer, Calob Marele, and Wm. E. Oberlin, who constitute the board of officers chosen at the Farmers' Festival held last year, are requested to meet at the Mineral Springs on next Monday, August 15th, for the purpose of making arrangements for the coming annual meeting. By Order of the Board.

An urchin on the sidewalk, his shoeless feet red with cold, stood crying lustily. A well dressed stranger was moved to pity. "Come my boy I will buy you a pair of shoes," "Doo-hoo-hoo, doo—n your shoes, I want a breast-pin." That was a very foolish boy, and this is a very foolish Massillon if she expends all the money in her treasury for a lit the bit of a park, and refuses to put gas upon her streets. One is an ornament, the other a long felt necessity. If there is money enough for both, we are in favor of both, if not, let us dispense with the breast pin and have the shoes.

MARRIED.—On the 4th inst. by Rev. H. Korthauer, Mr. DANIEL HEMMERER and LOUISA KUHN.
